THIS WEEK

Thursday, 5 November

We finished Luke 15 last week with the elder brother standing outside the party. This week stays there a while.

1. Where in the story do you find yourself this week: in the far country, on the road home, or in the field, counting what you are owed?
2. The father runs. What does it cost him, in that culture and in ours, and when have you been run toward?

3. The elder brother is never told whether he went in. Why do you think the story ends open, and how would you end it for yourself?
